Kanara Forest Privilege Rules.

= = = =

2. Cultivation of Betta lands.

All the existing cultivations in Betta lands and encroachment by way of cultivation in forest lands should be regularised but in respect of future cultivation of the betta lands utilised for taking the earth for the betelnut gardens, a maximum of ten guntas should be fixed. As it was represented at the meeting held in Sirisi that the area that would be fit for cultivation would be five guntas per holding in about 20 or 30 years, the maxima of 10 guntas now fixed is reasonable. Where the land already cultivated is 5 guntas or less per holding, the holder will be permitted to cultivate it without paying any upset price but he will pay assessment for such lands. Where the extent of land so cultivated is more than 5 guntas an upset price equal to the value of the land before cultivation will be levied. In such cases no extra betta lands to compensate for the area cultivated will be given. The upset price to be fixed would be Rs.100 per acre. In cases of unauthorised cultivation of paddy, sugarcane or other crop the upset price should be fixed at a reasonalble price not exceeding Rs.100 (Rupees one hundred). Special staff will be employed to regularise the encroachers so far made within a period of 6 months of this order the cost of which will be borne by the encroachers whose cases are now regularised. Cases of encroachments by betta holders and non-agricultural use of betta lands already disposed of should also be reopened and disposed of on the above principles. In cases where more than one person is cultivating a holding each person will be entitled to cultivate without payment of upset price that fraction of 5 guntas which his land bears to the total holding.

3. The deficiency of Betta lands.

In the upghattaluks in cases where betta lands are below the standard required and suitable lands in protected forests are available the deficiency shall be made up up to eight acres of betta to per acre of garden land. In the below ghat taluks it would hot be possible to allow additional betta land due to paucity of suitable land in protected forests. Wherever suitable forest lands are available, these should be given out for Arecanut gardens as Betta lands in below ghat taluks. Both the Forest and Agriculture Departments should advise the betta holders on the better methods of maintaining the betta land and of lopping soppu so that the requisite green manure is obtained from as small an area as possible. For the purpose the question of revivising the post of Betta Officer abolished long back may be taken up by the Chief Conservator of Forests with the Government.

4. Maintenance of Betta lands.

In view of the concessions given to the betta holders there is a corresponding responsibility on their part to see that the bettas are maintained in proper condition. They should see that atleast 40 trees per acre of which at least 20 trees should be of the reserved species, of not less than 12" to 18" diameter, at breast height are maintained evenly spaced in the betta area. If the number is below this standard the betta holder should plant and rear at his own cost in the betta as many trees of suitable species to make up the required number of reserved and other trees prescribed above. If after 5 years the above minimum number of trees are not grown by the betta holder he would be liable to pay a penalty of Rs.10 per acre and the cost of departmental planting of the trees limited to Rs.50 per acre. The betta holder should be entitled to 1/3 of the trees planted including reserved species for his own use free of any cost or the 30 per cent of the value of the timber if the Government takes it. The Forest Department would arrange for supply of seedlings, saplings, at cost price where the betta holder undertakes to plant.

.....3

At present in many cases, the gardeners have got samaik rights (common rights) over the betta land assigned to their holdings. This has resulted in great negligence in the maintenance of Betta lands on the one hand and to constant litigation and quarrels on the other. Such betta lands where at present more /divided than one gardener have got common rights should be / on the basis of the area of garden belonging to such gardeners according to the fixed ratio as far as possible, taking also into consideration the adjacency or proximity of the betta land assigned to the respective cultivators of garden. The cost involved in this division of betta land should be borne by the concerned gardeners proportionately. The Tahsildar or the Assistant Commissioner may be entrusted to do this work with the help of the special staff and the work should be completed within one year from the date of this order.

5. Removal of fuel.

The permit fee for removal of firewood in cartloads will be Rs.1 per cartload. The firewood removed shall be for the bonafide use of the permit holder only as provided in the permit rules and not for sale or barter in such places wnere Fuel Depots are run by Government. As for the removal of firewood by headloads on permits, the existing practice in various places in the District will continue.

6. Fixing of Hasal Rates.

Hasal rates should be fixed at three times the existing permit rates or the current market rates whichever are less. The concession is confined only to agriculturists of Kanara to build residential houses in the villages. The concession will not apply to the residents of towns where timber depots are run by Government. Applications for Hasal permits should be sent to the District Forest Officer by the end of September every year and such application shall invariably be acknowledged and finally disposed of within six months from the dateof application. Permits should be given for the grant of Timber according to the bonafied requirements of the applicants. Cases of all persons in Kanara whose gross income is less than Rs.3,000 should be considered as cases of "extreme distress and poverty" under Rule 17(5) of the Kanara Permit Rules and they should be held as eligible for getting timber permits at half the permit rate, for their bonafide requirements, irrespective of the fact whether the timber applied for could conveniently be obtained from depot or at an auction or otherwise (permit rule 5(4)). Cases of miuse of the timber on permits e.g., its sale, misappropriation etc., should be severely punished by suitable conditions imposed on the permit holder, in addition to recovering the full permit value of the timber so misused. Arrangements should also exist for proper and prompt issue of permits, their checking and supervision. (A list of permit rates revised on the basis of this decision is annexed).

7. Release of land for cultivation.

Applications for lands should be disposed of as quickly as possible but in no case the final disposal he delayed over 6 months in ordinary cases. If the area notified by the Forest Department is not suitable for cultivation because of their being in the interior they will be surrendered to Forest Department. Every application for Forest land for cultivation should be considered on its merits by the Deputy Commissioner and concurrence of the Forest Department be obtained and the land be granted subject to usual condition wherever it is feasible whether the area asked for is a notified area or not.

18

If there are applications which have been rejected just because they are not in the notified area , they should also be examined on merits and disposed of irrespective of whether the areas asked for are notified or not. If forest land is applied for cultivation particularly where the area is adjacent to already cultivated area or very near to it and within the vicinity of habiated village, the land may be granted (with the concurrence of the Forest Department). The Forest Department may apply to Government for the additional staff required in this connection.

/ni

8. Slopes for cashewnut Cultivation.

Land on steeper slopes which is denuded and open should be leased out for planting cashewnut. The planting in such areas shall be according to the conditions imposed by the Forest Department to be embodied in the lease containing all other conditions.

9. Publicity of Privileges.

In order to make the villager aware of the main privileges sanctioned by Government in the District a small pamphlet in Kannada should be brought out setting forth the general and important privileges he is permitted to exercise in the forest.
